

Gin Kinney
Heritage Green, LLC
407.377.0555
gin@hgprop.com

ALEX KANE OF HERITAGE GREEN SPEAKS ON GREEN

Central Florida Real Estate Counsel Members Enjoy Presentation

Orlando, FL – February 21, 2008 – Heritage Green's – a developer of green building projects – Alex Kane spoke to the Central Florida Real Estate Counsel regarding the importance of going green in land development.

Over the past 2 years, Heritage Green has carefully designed Avington Park to be a luxury, green community that promotes a healthy lifestyle for residents and nature alike. This community promises to demonstrate how residential real estate can have a gentle effect on the environment.

“With Avington Park, we are implementing methods of land restoration that will actually enhance the ecosystem,” explains Alex Kane, VP of Development at Heritage Green. “We are employing low impact design techniques that will truly change the way developers view project development.”

Some of the green features of Avington Park include: preserving over 6,000 trees on the site, constructing on only 8% of the land, and creating a bird & butterfly habitat.

“Alex’s presentation was terrific,” said Frederick Jones of the CFREC. “The program was very beneficial and an eye-opener.”

Construction of Avington Park is scheduled to begin in April, and the first homes will begin construction in the winter of 2008. Presales of home sites have begun, and the next release of lots will occur in April. For more information on Avington Park, please visit www.avington-park.com or call 407.377.0555. Images are available.

Heritage Green, LLC

Heritage Green is a diversified land developer with over 30 years experience, focused on achieving excellence in land development. With a strong emphasis on sustainability, Heritage Green strives to ensure that every project blends into both the community and environment while adding value to the land.

For more information, visit www.heritagegreenproperty.com or call 407.377.0555.

###